

UNIVERSITY REGULATIONS MANUAL - SECTION 4
POLICY ON STUDENT ATTENDANCE AND LEAVE RULES (REVISED 2026)

1. General Principles

- 1.1 Regular attendance in lectures, tutorials, and practical laboratories is essential for academic continuity and p
- 1.2 The academic session consists of a minimum of 90 instructional days per semester.

2. Minimum Attendance Requirement

- 2.1 Every student must maintain a minimum attendance of 75% in each registered theory and laboratory course
- 2.2 Attendance shall be calculated from the first official day of instruction until the last instructional day notified in
- 2.3 Continuous absence without prior written permission for more than 14 consecutive calendar days shall result

3. Monitoring and Dissemination

- 3.1 Course instructors shall publish fortnightly attendance statements on the university student portal.
- 3.2 It is the sole responsibility of the student to monitor their attendance percentage and take corrective action.

UNIVERSITY REGULATIONS MANUAL - SECTION 4 (CONTINUED)
POLICY ON STUDENT ATTENDANCE AND LEAVE RULES (REVISED 2026)

4. Condonation of Attendance Shortage

4.1 The Dean of Academic Affairs may condone attendance shortage up to a maximum of 10% (i.e., attendance

(a) Prolonged medical illness requiring hospitalization.

(b) Participation in recognized Inter-University, National, or International cultural, sports, or academic competition.

(c) Bereavement of immediate family members (parents or siblings).

4.2 A non-refundable condonation fee of $50 per course must be deposited before the application is evaluated.

4.3 Medical leave certificates must be countersigned by the University Medical Officer and submitted to the Academic Affairs Office.

5. Detention and Re-registration

5.1 Any student whose attendance falls below 65% in any course shall be deemed 'Detained' in that specific course.

5.2 Detained students are strictly barred from appearing for the end-semester examination in that course.

5.3 A detained student must re-register for the course when it is offered in subsequent semesters and satisfy all requirements.